

CMC Global 2020 WORKSHOP

Unleashed together Intergenerationally For God's Glory Enoch Wong

Drawing from the findings of “Listening to Their Voices,” a 2018 study conducted in Canada in exploring the faith journeys of Canadian-born Chinese Christians, this workshop explores the salient factors that shape the faith journeys of those who stay in the Chinese Canadian churches and those that affect the decisions for those who left the church and for others, eventually abandoning their faith. Learnings from the study can assist churches in North American Chinese churches in nurturing and supporting younger generation local-born Chinese Christians to mature to become followers of Christ and partners in engagement in missions.
