

“Who’s Next?”

By Enoch Wong

This workshop offers a very high-level preliminary observations of the findings of a study undertaken jointly by Ambassador For Christ Inc. and the Centre for Leadership Studies at Canadian Chinese School of Theology. Entitled “Obedient to the Call,” this study explores how North American-born Chinese missionaries understand their calling and be obedient to engage in full-time missions across the globe. Observations in the following three drivers that motivate the missionaries to engage in full-time mission are discussed: (1) Calling; (2) Stewardship; (3) Mission. To foster to the commitment of these missionaries, three areas of support are identified as actions to take for churches and families in raising up and sending out of North American-born Chinese full-time missionaries.